Represents investment managers in the structuring, formation and operation of private investment funds, including private equity funds, hedge funds, hybrid funds and funds of funds, and on regulatory and compliance matters.

James advises on a wide array of investment strategies, such as credit, real estate, growth equity, secondary transactions and multi-manager platforms. Additionally, he has advised asset managers in structuring and negotiating strategic investments, joint ventures, co-investment vehicles, managed accounts, “funds of one” and other strategic relationships.

His clients include sponsors at all stages, from new managers launching their first fund, to established financial services firms seeking to enter the alternative assets space, to established institutional managers intending to wind down.

James also represents a diverse set of investors in connection with their alternative investments, including employee pension plans, funds of funds and family offices, and regularly advises his clients on market terms.

THE BEST PART OF MY JOB IS

“Solving complicated problems in an evolving private funds landscape.”
