Schulte partner Doug Mintz quoted in Bloomberg Law

September 3, 2024

Schulte Roth & Zabel partner Douglas Mintz was recently quoted in an article discussing the evolving legal landscape surrounding “good faith” bankruptcy filings, particularly in the context of Johnson & Johnson’s ongoing talc-related litigation. Doug noted that a seemingly healthy entity might still file for Chapter 11 due to “contingent liabilities that aren’t obvious to an observer,” highlighting the complexities courts face in determining good faith. Commenting on the ongoing challenges in these cases, Doug described the “never-ending metronomic back and forth where bankruptcy lawyers push the boundaries.”
