Schulte partner Boris Ziser discusses the rising appeal of litigation finance

September 24, 2024

Asset-based finance covers a broad spectrum of investment strategies, but one area that's gaining significant momentum is litigation finance. Boris Ziser, partner and co-head of the Finance Group at Schulte, sat down with 9fn's Private Credit Editor, David Brooke, to explore the rising appeal of litigation finance.

For insights into the market dynamics and why litigation finance is becoming increasingly attractive to private credit funds and institutional investors, watch the video here.
